

Dataset Records

When you find potentially useful datasets for your work, be sure to take these notes before navigating away!

Search terms and search tool you used to find this dataset

Data Planet > Energy Resources and Industries > Electricity - Detailed > Net Generation of Electricity

URL - (Also be sure to download a local copy)

Check to make sure the URL is stable from session to session (try opening the same URL in a different browser). If it is not stable, look for a “stable URL” or “permalink” or similar, or else document how you arrived at your data from the most recent stable URL on the website.

Date Downloaded

Datasets can be fluid, so be sure you record when you downloaded your data.

1/9/2023

Most recent data from 10/2022

Authorship

Record the author, Primary Investigator, or Agency that created the dataset

The Energy Information Administration (EIA)

Exact name of the dataset and version

There are lots of similarly named datasets, so this will prevent mayhem later.

Net Generation of Electricity from the Electricity

Time period, geography, and/or scope covered

Just the US from 01/2001 to 10/2022. Covers all states and classifications of energy

Location of dataset overview information

URL or other description of where to find the overview. Note key aspects of the overview in your notes (such as time period, geography, etc). Be sure to save local copies as datasets can be fluid things and documentation may move or change.

Data formats

Note any useful information about the data formats found.
Delimited, PDF, Excel, SAS, Url links, XML

Terms of Use

Are there any restrictions on how you can use these data?

“Registration and compliance with the API Terms of Service Agreement help EIA monitor usage and ensure service availability. EIA data is provided free of charge and should be used in compliance with our Copyrights and Reuse Policy.”

Suggested Citation if provided

You may adjust this citation later to accommodate a particular citation style, but always record the suggested citation in your notes.
